Figures Back Up Statements on City Law

Facts and figures compiled by thirty five cities of the third class in Pennsylvania show conclusively that it costs more to operate under the borough system than it does under the city charter with the small council and fixed responsibility. Without exception they testify to this and show their budgets before and after as conclusive evidence. It costs more to operate every department of a borough according to actual figures right from the records of these cities because there is less individual responsibility under the borough system. It is the system that is at fault and this system has been changed by law for the benefit of boroughs that have grown to or above the 10,000 mark and demand concentrated effort of the best talent available.

As an example we refer to New Castle with a population of 47,000 people and in round figuures it spent $136,000 in its Public Safety department which includes the Fire Department, paid department, collection and disposal of garbage, Health department, City Laboratory, Electric Department, Plumbing Board, Poor department and Emergency hospital. Any revenue that is received from any one of the departments under this head goes in to offset the budget or rather reduce the cost to the taxpayers.

In the several departments consolidated under the one head, Monessen hardly compares with New Castle since we have only a police, fire and garbage disposal. Hence it can be seen what our department of Public Safety should cost us if operated on the same high business plane as New Castle. We would have only half or less than that amount of police. Our firemen have so far performed gratuitous service with the exception of the drivers. If it cost New Castle only $136,000 for all the above, certainly the elimination of more than half the police, the paid fire department and all the other departments Monessen does not have or need and divide the cost by two, we would have only $68,000 necessary. Then credit the revenue from the mayor's office and for the collection of the refuse and other income, and the average taxpayer can soon get an idea of the benefits that accrue to the credit of a Third class city. This is only one of the thirty five cites in the state that is thus managed so highly satisfactory to the people.

Teams Ready For Clash Tomorrow

Last night the local High school foot ball team was put through a strenuous thirty minute scrimmage in preparation for their game with Donora High school here Saturday. The first team was placed on the offense and during the entire scrimmage was held for downs but once. At the end of the scrimmage they had registered eight touch downs, several ofthem coming after long runs. Captain Hannigan and Schrading were the chief ground gainers, while the line plunging of J. Miller also netted much ground. On the defense the work of Layton was most prominent.

While all of the members of the local team are not in the best of condition, yet every regular except C. Anderson will be able to start the game. It is likely that J. Pillette, substitute half back, will also be out of the game with a bad leg. It will be gratifying to the fans to know that Schmidt and Veschio who were slightly injured in the California game, will be in condition to start the Donora game. Capt. Hannigan has fully recovered from the injury to his back received in the Tech-Freshmen game, and will be in the two schools the pink of condition. It has not been fully decided just who will start at left half back. If the field is heavy, Schrading is likely to start, if it is dry, Anderson may get the assignment. The lineup of the Monessen team will not be announced until just preceding the game. Coach Townsend has abundance of material for the guards and tackles and several men have been drilled on ends in order that the team may be well supplied with good substitutes for this important position. The lineup will be chosen from the following men: Hanlon, Dudas, Layton, Myford, Graff, T. Parnelli Moussioux, P. Pillette and Lebowitz.

Competent officials have been secured for the game. Sexias of Columbia, will referee. Hicks, former coach of Wilkinsburg High, will act as umpire and W. W. McKinney, head linesman. The cold weather indicates a good football day and it is believed the field will be in fair condition. The crowd will be a record breaker for the season. The Monessen team and students will be assigned the west side of the field and Donora the east side. A lively cheering duel will be staged between

Republican Rally

The local committee met last night to perfect plans for the Republican rally to be held here Saturday night. There was a good attendance and a very enthusiastic meeting. Two local bands will furnish the music at intersections of the business streets. The speaking will be at the corner of Fifth and Donner, where issues of the campaign will be discussed. Hon. Charles E. Whitten of Greensburg, will be the leading orator. The candidates of the party will be present, including Adam M. Wyant for Congress, and all of the nominees for the Legislature. Mr. Wyant is also scheduled for a speech. There is considerable interest being manifested in the meeting and a good attndance is anticipated.

Vera Cruz., Oct. 29—With two strike breakers murdered and dock workers supported by other bodies, the situation here today was considered critical. General Calles has refused to call out troops to assist in the trouble.

Hallowe'en Ball

The Monongahela Valley Country club was the scene of one of the most enjoyable social events of the Hallowe'en season last evening when members of the club and their guests gathered there in large numbers to participate in the Hallowe'en dance. Practically all wore grotesque costumes and the club rooms were decorated in keeping with the occasion. Good music was furnished for the occasion and lunch was served by the club caterer.

The justices of the peace have received notice from the county treasurer to return at once all unsold hunters' licenses in their possession. This will mean that late-comers for hunters' licenses will be required to get them from the county treasurer, though it will still be possible to have the justices send in the orders for them. It is supposed that the recalling of the unsold permits is to give the treasurer a chance to see how many hav been issued this year.

WOMEN AND MEN ALIKE ARE INVITED TO THE OPEN MEETING THIS EVENING

Tonight the board of trade will hold an open meeting and all citizens of Monessen will be welcome to hear an excellent speaking program which will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

Arrangements will be made to welcome men and women to hear speakers on issues of the present day. It makes no difference whether you are a member of the organization or not, you will be welcome just the same. The meeting will be for the edification of both sexes. It has been some effort to bring before the citizens of the town men of eminence and prominence, well posted on the subjects they will discuss and no person should miss the opportunity. A lunch will be served members at 6:45 and at 8 o'clock the speaking program will start.

Mr. H. R. Davis of Pittsburgh, has been engaged to discuss the subject of "Americanization" along lines outlined by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. He will give a talk that will interest every person and will tell the Monessen people what a service they owe to those who are domiciled here from other lands and where obligation rests. He will tell of the great work that is before the people of the entire district and his talk will greatly enlighten the local people.

J. E. Ayres of McKeesport, will talk on the advantages of the city form of government for places with a population as large as Monessen. He has his suubject well in hand and will be prepared to answer any questions that may be propounded. He has made a great study of city government and his experience in working out the intricate problems in the Tube city has prepared him for the work he is now doing in the way of bringing a message to other places that have emerged into the city class but are still operating under the borough or unwieldy form of government. There are many people who have made no study at all of the question and who will be called upon to cast a vote for or against it next Tuesday. All people who are undecided at this time should hear Mr. Ayres at the High School Gymnasium tonight.

Jury Renders Verdict

A coroner's jury yesterday found that Andrew Malley, a young man of Donora, had met his death while driving his motorcycle at an excessive rate of speed and on the wrong side of the road. The young man with a number of companions on motorcycles were racing along the new road between Donora and Monongahela City October 19th, when Malley in attempting to pass one of the crowd, dashed into a truck driven by G. L. Wibel of Pittsburgh. The motorcyclist received a fractured skull when he was thrown from his machine and died a short time afterwards. The truck driver was exonerated from all blame.

Many Cases Listed

The quarter sessions docket in the Clerk of Courts office at the court house, Greensburg, shows that 146 cases have been entered for trial at the November term of court. A number of cases in which the crimes charged are desertion and non-support have been adjusted and the suits will not appear when court begins.

Daniel Simmons and George Entho are charged with the crime of murder. Tomo Kolick, of Monessen, is charged with the crime of bigamy. It is alleged that the man has two wives. Mrs. Mary Magana is accused of the crime of selling tobacco to minors, and Sam Berkosky, A. G. Sebold and Floyd Shultz, of Latrobe, are accused of running a gambling house.

Men and women will fight, it seems, and more than 25 people will have to stand trial on the different grades of assault and battery charges. About 20 people will have to face the charge of larceny and eight men are on the robbery list. A dozen men are accused of gun toting and the number of crimes against morals is very large.

Mamie Rea of Stockdale, has filed suit for $5,000 damages against John Huebner and Theodore Jones for alleged defamation of character. It is averred that on the night of May 30, 1920, the defendants attempted to force their way into the house of the plaintiff, at the same time making indecent remarks as to her character and her home. It is averred that at the time the daughter of the plaintiff was ill, and that by reason of the defendants' action, she suffered a relapse.

Fire in College

(By United Press)

Meadville Pa., Oct. 29—Fire in the dormitory of the Allegheny College early this morning caused the 200 girl students to flee from the building in their night clothes. The fire caused but slight damage and the girls marched from the building in order and returned later to their rooms, recovering all their clothing. Several local girls are students at the school.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

The Palace of Sweets makes an important announcement today in regards to the prices of all home-made candies. The Palace of Sweets is fully prepared for the Hallowe'en season with new taffies, wafers and nuts of all kinds and can fill your needs for parties etc. They also have orange, vanilla and chocolate brick ice cream for this occasion in addition to six other kinds of ice cream and ices. Married Wednesday

Miss Gertrude O'Conner and Cecil Mann were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. A. J. Wigley at St. Leonard's church Wednesday morning. The bride was attired in a blue traveling suit and a blue hat. The couple left immediately afterwards for a short wedding trip to Eastern cities. The bride has been employed here for some time as an operator in the Bell telephone exchange while the groom was a member of the police force.

Donora to Celebrate

Donora citizens extend an invitation to residents of the Monongahela valley to participate in their big Hallowe'en celebration tomorrow night when it is expected 2,000 masquers will be in line and several brass bands will furnish music. Eight fine prizes consisting of merchandise of all descriptions will be awarded masks who participate in the parade. The American Steel & Wire orchestra will furnish music for street dancing, and the Visiting Nurses association will erect stands to sell confetti and hot lunches.

If the United States Were in the League Today

If today the United States were fairly bound to Europe, by Article 10, of the Wilson League Covenant, without reservations, the bankrupt governments of Europe would be calling on us through the League to fight their battles with our American men, to relieve their treasuries with our American money. It is for this reason that Europe urges the United States to come in.

The whole spectacle, once only forecast in the dim outlines of an uncertain future, unrolls before the eye today as a moving picture of death and calamity! Formerly, the Senators who defended the Constitution against President Wilson could only conjecture what might happen when the ill-starred peoples of Europe should again be at one another's throats. They could only say, for instance: "If Poland invade Russia and be driven back, we should have to protect Poland against invasion under Article 10, for Poland is a member of the League." What they conjectured has come to pass.

Had the Senate not rejected the President's demands, American soldiers would be on call, under Article 10, to die on the Buz and the Vistula. If the Senate had not stood fast, American soldiers would be in Armenia, not only to defend Armenia against the Turks, but to protect the British oil fields of Mesopotamia against Bolshevist invasion.

If the Senate had approved Mr. Wilson's Covenant "without essential reservations," American soldiers would be on call today to embark for the danger zones between Italy and Jugo-Slavia, between Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, between Greeks and Turks.

Should the Turkish peril be provoked anew and Islam hammer again at the gates of Cairo, American soldiers would have to be ready to sail across the seas and defend, not Egypt, but Great Britain and its Suez Canal against the followers of Mahamet.

Should Bolshevist sweep across Turkestan to threaten India, they would have to be ready to safeguard, not India, but the British Empire over India.

Is this what you desire for your sons, women voters of the United States?

THE RESULTS OF HIGH PRICES

Newspaper publishers are interested to note the news item to the effect that the paper mills of Finland are working to introduce their product in this country. They turned out 210,000 tons of paper this year, and may become quite a factor in the situation. If they should multiply this production paper producers who have been asking exorbitant prices in this country would wish they hadn't.

The law of supply and demand may sometimes seem to me nullified. Combinations control prices and competition is prevented. But when you put too high a figure on a commodity, you invite other people to go into the business from all over the world.

It may be a fairly easy thing to line up all the producers in given line in this country. But so far international trusts have not developed much. The paper producers of Finland would probably prefer to act independently, and build up a permanent American business as the result of fair prices.

Paper making is an industry which it takes a long time to develop so immediate relief is not in sight. Publishers should not hesitate to ask a fair price for their product since it will take time to stabilize this industry. But just as sure as paper producers hold prices up to the present level, they will invite competition in the end that will hurt their business.

The same condition has been seen in the sugar industry, only relief came sooner because cane and beets can be grown sooner than paper mills can be created.

Many sugar dealers have been forced to see the dangers that go with profiteering, and the same business risk exists in any industry where the consumer is unfairly squeezed.

TOWN AND CITY PLANNING

Most growing cities have made great mistakes in failing to take in advance land needed for parks, playgrounds and school house lots. They have paid high prices for such property, when the same could have been had only a few years earlier for much less money. Frequently desirable tracts will have been so built up by private owners, that they could not be had at any price that could be paid.

In the outskirts of every community are pleasant and attractive spots that could be had for relatively small sums for development as parks. Even if they contain no remarkable natural features, by planting them with quick growing trees and shrubs they can be made into beauty spots in a few years. Park development pays for itself, since it attracts people to build handsome houses around it. Home seekers feel that once a tract is set aside as a park, it will always be a beautiful neighborhood, so they can afford to lay out money freely in developing near by land. Such locations attract those seeking pleasant homes from other towns.

Some people, on reading that every state in the union but Mississippi, Vermont and Nevada, showed population gains in the last 10 years, think that the country is growing too fast. They do not see how all this teeming population can be supported, if this rate of increase continues. They point to the rise in land prices as a sign that the country is getting too populous.

Yet if the United States could cultivate its broad acres with the same intensive use of the soils as prevails in western Europe, a population ten times the present figures could live in comfort. If there are scarcities of the essentials of life, it will come from the stupid failure of the people to apply modern science, rather than from exhaustion of resources.

When the wholesale price of anything drops 10 per cent, and the retail price only half of one per cent, something must be the matter with the news facilities of the country, or else some folks don't read the newspapers.

Good looking girls will never experience any difficulty in getting all the assistance they need in the voting booth.

A lot of people will never be satisfied until they get the prices of 1890 with a considerable increase on the wages of 1920.

At Death's Door

"I was talking with my neighbor, Mr. Webb, the other day, regarding the great trouble his stomach had given him. He said he suffered 7 or 8 years, and had been almost at death's door a number of times from acute indigestion and bloating of gas which seemed to shut off his heart action. He said he wouldn't have lived much longer if he hadn't taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy when he did, which made a well man of him." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. BRONCHITIS

The Danger Lies In Letting This Disease Run On

The extreme huskiness and feeling of suffocation known as bronchitis warns us of congestion in the bronchial tubes. They have caught cold in an acute form. The outcome may be serious.

Krew-Pina should be kept in the house for just such an emergency. It is invaluable as a quick relief in all cases of cold. Bathe the chest and throat in warm water, and dry thoroughly. Apply Krew-Pina and rub it well into the pores of the skin the bathing has opened. Also, apply in the nostrils. Then, get into bed; draw the bed clothes up about the nose and inhale the medicinal vapors. Repeat these applications several hours apart until relieved.

Krew-Pina, compounded entirely of simple home remedies such as Oil of Pine and other volatile oils, is absolutely harmless, but produced from a scientific formula that makes it wonderfully effective for family ailments and indispositions, including sore throat, feet or joints, headaches, coughs, croup, sores, burns, bruises, cuts, sprains, etc. 30c and 60c jars—at your druggist's.

Monkey Glands Not The Only Thing

The idea that monkey glands could be successfully transferred to human beings was so startling that it seemed almost unbelievable.

It is now further reported that Gland substances taken from healthy young sheep and cattle, prepared in tablet form are being administered in rundown anaemic conditions requiting building up and where there is evidence of glandular deficiency.

It is claimed in support of this theory that our tiny glands govern the activity and health of the billions of life cells in our bodies. When we are weak, run-down or anaemic, it is claimed that our glands are "run down" and cannot supply the help that is needed. So what could be more natural than to supply this lack with gland extracts of healthy animals?

The Glandex Company, Inc., 244 W. 29th St., N. Y., supply in the form of a tablet under the name of Glandex Compound, a combination of Gland substances with iron and other tonic agents.

During the past few months this product has come into quite general use in those sections of the country where its merits, as a general tonic have been given publicity. In fact, druggists report that they have never seen a tonic adopted by so many run-down men and women in search of increased health and strength.

So confident are the manufacturers of the merit of Glandex Compound that the druggists are authorized to refund the full purchase price should anyone fail to feel satisfactory benefit after two weeks.

Note: $1,000 will be paid by the Glandex Company, Inc., to anyone proving that Glandex Compound does not contain genuine desiccated gland substance (popularly known as Gland Extracts) from sheep and cattle.

For sale by Craig's drug store, 461 Donner avenue and good druggists everywhere. 1t

Keep Your Blood in Good Condition and You Throw Off Disease

PAY ATTENTION TO YOUR HEALTH

No Need to Take Chances with it. Pepto-Mangan Makes Rich, Red Blood

When you first feel a tired, all-gone feeling and look pale, your blood is losing in quality. Weak, impoverished blood has no power to fight disease. It takes red blood to keep you well.

If you keep your blood in good condition it will fight off disease. You will not be such an easy prey to long and expensive sicknesses. With thin blood you take chances every day.

There's no need doing that. You can take Pepto-Mangan and build up rich, red blood. With red blood you are able to win in the fight against prevailing diseases. Try Pepto-Mangan. It comes in tablet or liquid form. Take either kind. The tablet has the same medicinal value as the liquid. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for "Gude's" and be sure that the name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on the package. adv.

Running Water Soothes Babies.

In the hill stations of India one may often come across native babies lying asleep in the open with a continuous stream of water flowing over their heads, this being obtained by damming up some large stream and inserting a length of bamboo piping. The cold water tends to drive the blood away from the brain, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, and so induces sleep. Infants are frequently left alone in this way quite safely for from eight to ten hours, while the mother cares for living cutting grass on the hillsides.

Pretty Legend.

The Koreans explain why sparrows hop on both feet and why flies rub their feet together when they alight, in the following way: The sparrow and flies had a quarrel and decided to ask the governor of the Korean provinces to arbitrate the matter. He found them both wrong, and ordered them both whipped, and it made the sparrows jump up and down with pain and the flies put their hands together and prayed to be forgiven. The governor forgave them both, but as a sign he decreed that sparrows should always hop and that flies should rub their feet together when they alighted.

REAL ORIGIN OF CHARIVARI

In Medieval Times It Was an Expression of Disapproval of Too Domineering Wife.

The unpleasant ceremony known in America as the charivari, in medieval times was the ceremony that went with the public disapproval of a weak-kneed husband and a strong-minded or strong armed wife

When a wife was known to be the head of the house and not averse to applying the family club to her husband's back, the men of the village holding that such a precedent might come into unpleasant popularity, waited for a dark night and then attacked the house of the ill-assorted couple. The wife was dragged from her bed, and in whatever scant attire she might be found was tied to the back of a donkey her face to the rear while the husband was tied by the hands to the donkey's tail They were then paraded through the streets amid the glare of torches, while the entire population turned out to beat pots and kettles and yell jibes and insults at the pair As the years passed the ceremony was widened to include widows or widowers who had remarried too soon, after their mate's death, or those persons whose ill difference in age met with public disapproval.

Campaign Nears End

(By United Press)

With Senator Harding enroute to Cincinnatti, Oct. 29--Senator Warren G. Harding carried his campaign into southern Ohio today with a swing down to Cincinnatti, where he speaks tonight.

In his Ohio campaign thus far Senator Harding is confining himself largely to a reiteration of his former statements on leading issues laying especial emphasis on the league of nations.

Gov. Cox was scheduled to arrive in Akron just as Senator Harding left this morning. It is the nearest the two candidates have come to meeting face to face during the entire campaign and is typical of the intense political activity in this section of Ohio, which both parties are claiming.

Senator Harding met the "oligarchy" charge in a new way in his Akron speech.

"I'm the freest man that was ever nominated by any party," he said. "I am unpledged, unowned and unbossed."

Referring indirectly to President Wilson's statement to pro-league Republicans at the White House, Senator Harding remarked that the President and the Democratic candidate are no longer agreed on Article ten. He did not elaborate, however, but added that he will never have anything to do with a league that has article ten in it.

As to reservations, Harding is now apparently trying to cut the ground from under Gov. Cox, who has recently laid emphasis on his willingness to accept reservations. Reservations, Harding is telling his Ohio audiences, are not binding.

"Virginia ratified the constitution of the United States with reservations," he said, and then discovered 75 years later when she tried to withdraw that they meant nothing."

Senator Harding took note of the industrial situation now prevailing in many centers and particularly in Akron where thousands of employes have been laid off recently. Harding declared that the federal reserve board should make it easier for legitimate business to obtain working capital.

Peculiar Suit

Martin Zarnoski, next friend and father of Leon Zarnoski in his own right, has filed a suit against Hyman J. Appelbaum of Donora, for damages for personal injuries received by the son of the plaintiff when he fell from an automobile being driven by the defendant. The accident occurred on October 15, 1920. The defendant it appears, had stopped the car at a point along the street, and the boy got on the running board. The boy in getting off, fell and struck his head against the curb, suffering a fractured skull and other injuries. It is averred that the defendant was negligent in not requiring the boy to get off the car before it was started or stopping and letting the boy off after it had been started.

To Polish Glass.

A good polishing powder is made of rock alum, burned and finely powdered, five parts, levigated chalk, one part; mix and apply with a dry cloth. There is nothing better to polish glass than chamois leather, or selected. They should be kept entirely free from dust, or grit.

Greatest Wireless Station.

The world's greatest wireless station has been built in Italy, powerful enough to communicate with North and South America with ease and to be erected on this side of the Atlantic.

Pepered With Shot

When his head was mistaken for a pheasant, Ralph Miller, aged 42, an insurance agent of Mount Pleasant, was peppered with shot by R. J. McKee, of Scottdale, near Nannis, Somerset county. More than 30 No. 6 shot entered Miller's head and neck, but the wounds were not serious. The two hunters were members of a party of five who had separated in accordance with a well defined plan. But through a misunderstanding Miller got close to McKee and when he raised his head above a stump, McKee mistook him for a pheasant and fired. Fortunately the gun he was using was a short barreled, 16-gauge affair and the shot scattered quickly.

The "Scaup-Duck."

Although a scientific work on ornithology tells that the duck is so called "because she feeds on scaup, broken shell-fish," late authorities state that the name of the bird is properly derived from the "mussel scalps" or "mussel scalpers," the beds of rock on which mussels are generated.

There are two species of the scaup duck in America, and to bear out the name it would feed in deep water and bring forth its young on tall rocky islets, which, like a mussel bank, are covered with overlying weeds, but dark. The lesser scaup duck, greenhead, bluebill, flocking duck, troupial, shuffler, etc.

A Fitting Theme.

"Have you read me his new poem. It is called, 'Song of to Put One's'"

"Humph! By rights he ought to have called it 'Ghoul to Everybody!'"

Success Lies Within Yourself

It does not matter whether you were born in a hovel or in a mansion It is within yourself that you will find the material that makes success And if you have the right spirit, you will not urge lack of ability or of education as an excuse for failure or mediocrity If you have the will to victory, you will not haggle about conditions or circumstances The men who have accomplished great things did not wait for paraphernalia or for fine tools It is not fine tools nor splendid opportunities nor influential friends nor great riches that make great men The greatness is in the man or nowhere —Orison Swett Marden in "You Can but Will You?"

His Narrow Escape

Clarence and his nurse were promenading along the veranda at the summer resort hotel A woman stopped them to speak to the pretty child and on hearing how he had accidentally rolled down the hotel steps was profuse in sympathetic exclamations O, dear! O, what a narrow escape etc

Clarence enjoyed her show of sympathy so much that he added to her fright of steps to the trouble when he related the episode to the next woman they came to And at the end of the veranda he had improved his story by rolling from the top floor of the hotel to the steps outside the veranda, finishing off with

"And I came near cracking my skull, too."

PERFORMER IN HARD LUCK

Youthful Acrobat Deeply Humiliated in the Presence of the Girl of His Heart.

A group of neighborhood youngsters had organized a circus at the home of a boy whose 5-year-old sister was my girl. I was to be the star trapeze artist and was all dressed up in a bathing suit with a window curtain sash around my waist.

The circus was held in a vacant lot; all the dogs and cats in the neighborhood were the menagerie. The trapeze hung from a tree.

In due time my act was announced. I climbed the rope to my perch in approved fashion and went through a few minor stunts with generous applause from the audience. Then I made ready for the final act which was to astound them all, especially my girl. I began to swing as high as possible and with a last look into the eyes of my sweetheart I swung out over the heads of the assembly. But I didn't swing back. The bar of my trapeze—a section of broom handle, broke, and I sailed on in a beautiful curve to the feet of my fair lady.

From this painful embarrassing position I was lifted by the actors, actresses and spectators. The extent of my injuries was a rip in a puppet window curtain and a severely lacerated pride.—Exchange.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN PRESIDENT

Ambitious Party Leaders Prevented the Nomination of Judge David Davis in 1872.

In 1872 Jas. F. Joy of Detroit missed the chance of his life to become president. The men who [illegible] of New York and Horace Greeley of New York and B. Gratz Brown of Missouri had a great deal of the Lincoln support and a large Democratic following. If he had been nominated, but Greeley was ambitious and so was Brown—and they formed a combination to nominate themselves, defeating Davis, who might have been elected over Grant. The business interests of the country were distressful of Greeley, but they had confidence in Davis. That the Grant administration and the Republican party as then controlled was unpopular was shown in the great Democratic congressional triumph of 1874, after Grant had been elected a second time.—Detroit News.

Useful Seaweed.

From seaweed when reduced to ashes are gained some of the most important preparations in use today. Some of these are iodine, bromide, iodide and bromides of sodium, mercury, potassium, magnesium and calcium. From seaweed are obtained dyestuffs, acids and alkalies, ingredients that are used in photography. It is further employed for coverings for floors in the packing of glass china and other breakable wares; for packing furniture, stuffing pillows and mattresses, and in making the cloth that is to be used for furniture stuffed with seaweed to keep free of moths and other insects, owing to its strong flavor. Seaweed is one of the best non-conductors of heat and cold known to [illegible] and by reason of its [illegible] it is used for this article [illegible] Iceland moss is used [illegible] and is also used [illegible] of [illegible]

RADICAL-REDUCTIONS

Throughout the Store--In Every Department--To Meet the Public's Demand for Lower Prices!

NOVEMBER PRICE ADJUSTMENT SALES

OF NEW FALL AND WINTER APPAREL FOR WOMEN, MEN, BOYS AND GIRLS

—This Sale affects EVERY MAN, WOMAN and CHILD in this city. It reaches right into the heart of the home and influences every family purse. It is the boldest step attempted by a retail store to meet the public's demand for lower prices.

—The newspapers have educated the public to look for lower prices because of the reductions in raw materials. But stocks retailers have on hand were made up during the past six months when prices of woolens, silks, etc., were much higher.

—Therefore only if the retailer is willing to CUT HIS PRICES, SACRIFICE HIS PROFITS and TAKE A LOSS can he give the public LOWER PRICES NOW. That's EXACTLY what FRANK & SEDER have done and we have gone so far as to offer in this sale

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS' WORTH OF MERCHANDISE AT COST AND LESS THAN COST

—not ALL merchandise will be sold on this basis, BUT in EVERY DEPARTMENT the public will find RADICAL REDUCTIONS

For example we are going to sell $2 and $3 Worcester Corsets for a $1.00; Children's $2 Sleepers for 98c; Heavy Crash Toweling for 12c: Silk Taffeta Petticoats for $2.25; $40 to $70 Women's Suits, Dresses and Coats for $25; Men's Suits for $29, practically cost price; Men's Overalls for 79c; Women's Satin-Silk Smock for $1.29, worth $3. Think of it! A Boy's Suit or Overcoat for $1.00. (Subject to certain conditions.) Women's Pure Silk Hose worth $3.98—imagine it—for only $1.59 a pair; Women's Sandal Rubbers for 29c—we could go on giving a thousand items just as sensational—but these few will prove the extremes we have gone to in this sale and will give you an idea of the sacrifices we have made in every department.

Ancient Irish Laws in Poetry.

Even a subject so essentially prosaic as the law was interwoven with poetry in ancient Ireland, where justice was administered by the File, or poet, the most important person in the country after the king. In olden times verse was employed when the matter to be recorded was of particular importance, or of a nature that called not only for grace and beauty of expression, but for dignity of language as well.

When the ancient laws of Ireland were revised, says the Christian Science Monitor, under the direction of St. Patrick, a File was summoned "to put the seal of poetry round them." This is believed one of the reasons that so much of the text of the Irish laws is in metrical form. From 12 to 15 years of special study was needed to qualify a File for the legal profession.

Cafes in the Kasbah.

Crowded steps to the mazes of the Moors in the Kasbah, the native quarter of Algiers, at once the traveler leaves the streets where street cars clang and Europeans walk, says an exchange, he meets crab. Peppermint and cinnamon sticks in bundles beside bazaars. Mosques are hidden here and there in mazes of lanes and cafes are open to the street with the gutteral gossip of the Arab drinkers and the click of dominoes adding zest.

Sandals of [illegible] laced and [illegible] with golden [illegible] are worn by blackeyed Arabs [illegible] with long eyelashes. Some of these [illegible] only in the cafes and [illegible] and there are [illegible] while color [illegible] they have to sell for gold.

The English Vocabulary.

[illegible] of English words is not to be [illegible] found in good authors, or in approved usage by correct speakers, including the poetic nature of science and the arts, does not probably fall short of 10,000. For writers or speakers use as many as [illegible] words, ordinary persons of fair intelligence [illegible] about three or four thousand. It is popular error to be required to name without examination the [illegible] whose English vocabulary was the largest. He would specify the all-embracing Shakespeare, and the all-learning Milton. And yet in all the works of the great dramatist there seem not more than 15,000 words; in the poems of Milton not quite 8,000. The whole number of Egyptian hieroglyphic symbols does not exceed 800, and the entire Italian operatic vocabulary is said to be scarcely more extensive.—George Perkins Marsh.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

Facts On Third Class City

On November 2nd the electors of the borough of Monessen, male and female, will vote on the adoption of a Third Class City charter. Very little publicity has been given the issue on account of no apparent opposition, the general sentiment seeming that the growth and importance of our town would convince the masses that we should adopt a government consistent with that growth and importance.

We have had many requests for information and have taken the liberty to address a questonnaire to each of the thirty-five cities now operating under the third class city law for the purpose of obtaining information as to how successful it has worked out elsewhere. We have received the most courteous and satisfactory replies, and upon the request of many people we herewith present some facts and figures. But the people who are interested to a greater degree than the information we are able to give in brief time and space, we invite them to study the correspondence that has been received. The idea seems to be in the mind of a few of our people that the first officers would be appointed and that there would be no change even though the electors did so desire. To this we can say that the first public officials would be elected in the fall of 1921 and would take their seats January 1, 1922. The roster would consist of a mayor and four councilmen elected at large. The salaries are fixed by law and in cities of 15,000 or over would be $1200 a year for the Mayor and $750.00 each for the councilmen. The City Controller and Treasurer are the only other elective officers and the salary of the controller is fixed by the council by means of the budget system. The budget system prevails and is made up at the beginning of the year, at which time all city officials are elected by ordinance and the salary fixed. Every official and employe is under bond and no councilman or elective officer can furnish a bond for employes.

The thirty-five cities now operating under the Clark act or Third class city law have adopted this form of government since 1913 when this act was passed. Without exception they are satisfied and would not return to the old borough form with its lack of individual responsbility and tendency to pile up floating debt. Under the city charter there can be no floating debt and the millage for operating expenses cannot exceed 10 mills on the assessed valuation. The law contemplates this is sufficient and the budgets must be fixed within this amount. Permanent improvements are made by special taxation or by means of bond issues.

In order to give the people of Monessen an idea of the character of the places that are now operating under Third class city government we repeat they are:

Allentown	Johnstown
Altoona	Lancaster
Bethlehem	Lebanon
Bradford	Lock Haven
Butler	McKeesport
Carbondale	Meadville
Chester	Monongahela
Coatesville	New Castle
Connellsville	Oil City
Corry	Pittston
Dubois	Pottsville
Duquesne	Titusville
Easton	Reading
Erie	Sharon
Franklin	Uniontown
Harrisburg..	Wilkes-Barre
Hazelton	Williamsport

York

In reply to the questionnaires, the thirty-five cities, without excepton, testified to the benefits received. While the reports go into details as to advantages, and give figures to substantiate their statements, we are unable to produce these reports in full on account of space, but will give briefly the summary and the comment from each city. The question asked was "What general advantage do you find in a city government?

Franklin, Pa.

"Franklin is and has been entirely satisfied with third class city or rather the commission or small council system, with good men in office you get matters atended to promptly and properly as there is no dodging of responsibility. Here we combine the office of clerk and controller which found an advantage in a city of our size, 10,000. Salary here is, Controller $1,200, Clerk, $800. The writer has had ten years experience in city affairs as a member of council under large and small council bodies and as controller and city clerk and fully endorses the commission form as better in every way."

Lock Haven, Pa.

"The superintendent of accounts and finance issues a financial report after the first of the year for the benefit of the public."

Hazelton, Pa.

"Departments systematized, responsibility placed on the superintendents of departments."

Monongahela, Pa.

"A financial saving to the Tax Payer. Superior business methods. Compulsory responsibility upon Departmental Heads. Operation of the Civil Service. The compulsory budget system, and many other advantages as set forth in the Act of the General Assembly regulate cities of the Third Class."

Connellsville, Pa.

"The advantage is a compact council and mayor all operating responsible for their department. The council and mayor are elected by the whole city, instead of by wards as is done by a borough. Our experience is that you get prompt action on all questions. The economic part will depend on the management of it, the question of economy will all lay with the men you elect, and their ability to handle affairs of the city.

Butler, Pa.

"Budget system and centralized supervision, valuation 50 percent—$16,445,000 tax rate 10 mills for general purposes and 1½ mills sinking fund, $382,000.00 bonded indebtedness. Total amount provided for in budget $181,599.07."

Easton, Pa.

"If the Clark act is carried out, you will soon see a difference in the administration. It is working fine here in Easton."

Coatesville, Pa.

"Centralization of responsibility for management of a department in one man, instead of a committee. Budget system of appropriations. Tax assessment by City Council rather than by County Commissioners."

Pittston, Pa.

"Better police and fire protection, better streets, more sewers, increased city revenue from forms of license and fixed responsibility on the head of every department, and the tax payer complaint can receive immediate attention."

Williamsport, Pa.

"Quicker action on all matters pertaining to municipal work. Closer co-operation between employes. Men elected to office give their time to their office or department and can follow up more closely the affairs pertaining to the office or department to which they assume after election. A closer relationship to other third class cities whose past experiences have and will save many thousands of dollars for other Third Class cities."

Reading, Pa.

"Yours of the 20th inst. received. I am unable to say what advantages the Third Class City Charter would have over a borough, but can say that the Commission form of government was the best that could have happened for cities of the Third Class. Greater efficiency, good business methods and attentiveness to the public's needs have been the result of the Act of 1913. The salary paid the councilmmen was sufficient to attract men of ability and knowledge. They work full time and are on the job every day to see that their individual departments are running smoothly. The tax rate has not increased, but instead the metered water rates have been very substantially reduced. While the expenses of the government increased presumably to the amount of the salary paid the councilmen, the increased efficiency has resulted in a much greater gain and the advantages of this form of government over the other is apparent to even the casual observer."

Bethlehem, Pa.

"Advantages. Government is less unwieldy because of the few men administering it, concentrate authority, and brings results, as responsibility can not so easily be dodged; makes councilmen attend to their duties on account of being compensated and removes the indifference that marks borough councilmen; is a step forward in the line of progress."

New Castle, Pa.

"From our point of view many advantages are to be derived from a Third Class City. For instance, it gives you the opportunity to have business men for Councilmen who are on the job all the time. Since this city changed from the old form of government to what we call the Commission form of Government, money has been saved the Tax Payers. And the results in every way have been much better. Our Councilmen spend their entire time with the city. We have three meetings of Council every week at 10:00 o'clock a. m., so you see in this way the Tax Payers get more for their money than they did under the old system. I know that our first Council saved the City more than the salaries paid them."

At last reports the American man was indicated as resigned to the necessity of eating stale bread on November 3rd.

THE DOLPHINS

By CLARA C. HOLMES.

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Oh, Mr. Campbell, see!" exclaimed Janet Ashmont, rising in her seat in the motorboat.

"Those monsters are called 'blackfish,'" he replied. "There is a big school and some of them are 10 feet long. I'm going ashore"

"Please, don't go—the fishermen aren't minding," remonstrated the fearless young woman.

"But the creatures are chasing us, Janet. See, one just leaped right out of the water! Suppose one jumps at us!"

Campbell put on speed and soon reached the boat moorings, some distance from the rock-bound shore

Janet sat silent; she was disappointed, for she had been enjoying her boat ride.

Frank stopped and gazed up and around the sky. A black cloudbank hovered on the eastern horizon. Frank knotted the ropes securely and then adjusted a canvas covering. He was very methodical.

"My boat is dancing where I tied her myself before I was ill; I haven't a cover, either," ejaculated Janet, spitefully.

"That is only a matter of judgment," Frank responded, assisting the girl into his rowboat. He was gentle, but not loverlike; but she was cross with him

On the shore delaying to push off his dory, Atwell Reynolds awaited them.

"Engine trouble, Campbell," he asked.

"No, black fish," frankly admitted Frank.

"Oh, ho!" scoffed Atwell. "Dolphins avoid motorboats."

"They are strange creatures to me, so I took no chances," retorted Frank.

"Miss Ashmont," smiled the suave Reynolds, "may I ask you to accompany me? The dolphins are sportful, and like to race at a safe distance."

"I'll go with you; the water is rough."

Frank sauntered toward an old fisherman repairing traps. He began to chat, but he was jealously watching the couple rowing away.

Since she had met Reynolds, three weeks before at this Cape Cod resort, Miss Ashmont had encouraged the new friend's advances, and had seemed annoyed because Frank was so unyielding

"So ye're afeerd of black fish?" asked the old lobsterman, quizzically

"I did not want to chance the lady's safety," explained Frank.

"Ye're safe in a motorboat; them fish ain't got no use for propellers."

The old man was a true weather prophet. Suddenly the wind turned northeast and rain fell. Frank hurried out and refastened Janet's motorboat. Atwell landed his passenger; but she was frightened and drenched

All day the storm raged, and all night. Several inbound boats came ashore. Atwell's launch was dashed to pieces upon the rocks. Mud-black waves rolled in, and, curling, spent their fury in a seething, angry foam.

Among the on lookers upon the bank Janet stood worrying about her boat.

At length when the wind abated, two hardy fishermen launched a rowboat.

"The fishermen will look after their property, and wisely leave us to do likewise," sagely suggested Frank Campbell. "Come, Reynolds," he continued deliberately "you are the best boatman and swimmer here; it is up to you to assist me in saving our friends sinking boats"

"All the boats in this bay aren't worth two human lives," refused Reynolds

Then a U. S marine volunteered to accompany Frank.

With hearts beating anxiously, the people gathering saw the young men battling with the breakers They watched them struggle from craft to craft and bail each one light. They cheered when the brave boatmen, drenched and chilled, reached the shore.

The next day Frank Campbell made a business trip to town. He was so deeply engrossed in business affairs for a week, indeed, that Janet hesitated to approach him. At last she met him alone in a grove path. His manner was formal, but she slipped her arm into his

"I told father about the dolphins," she ventured, "and he admires your discretion. I got a scolding for going out with Mr. Reynolds"

"I'm sorry, Janet, you were scolded. I dare say I bored you enough with my logic."

"Your logic!" she repeated.

"Yes; in this I am a disciple of Colton: 'Deliberate with caution but act with decision.'"

After a pause she resumed, sweetly: "The girl you choose for your wife will be honored."

For the moment he lost his head; his arm tightened around her as he asked tensely:

"Do you sincerely think so, Janet?"

"Yes."

To her surprise he smiled and changed the subject.

She was constant afterward. Several times she tried to infatuate him again, but he was adamant until near the close of his vacation; then he declared his intention to secure a license and wished her to marry him the very next week. In her surprise she said nothing.

Later, when she conferred with her mother, she advised:

"It's no use trying to change his dear, stubborn head."

THE LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS

It Dates Back to the Time of the Ancient Romans, and Probably Is Much Older.

It was a custom of the Romans to place a rose on the ceiling of the banquet hall, signifying that what was told at the feast was not to be repeated. From this custom originated the expression, sub rosa, the Detroit News recalls

The rose is the queen of love and beauty and is the most eloquent of all in the language of the flowers. The red rose is a token of love and the white of purity. A moss rosebud is a confession of love while a rose leaf says, "You may hope." A white rose signifies "I am worthy of you," and the yellow rose asks, "Are you jealous?"
